

PILOT INJURED IN CAR CRASH AFTER FLIGHTS

The driver of one automobile was injured, and a charge of failing to yield the right of way was laid by state police of the Gettysburg substation, against another driver, as the result of an accident at 4:40 p. m. Sunday afternoon at the intersection of the Mummaburg road and Buford avenue on the battlefield.

John Junior Baltzley, 26, of Aspers, suffered a laceration of his forehead and a laceration of the left eyebrow and bruised left leg. He was treated by a physician. The charge was filed against Albert R. Weaver, 22, of Thomasville, Pa., R. 1.

State police said an automobile operated by Weaver was being driven east on the battlefield avenue and that Baltzley's car was proceeding south on the Mummaburg road. Weaver failed to stop for a stop sign and drove into the path of Baltzley's car, the police said.

Damage to the Aspers man's car was estimated at $150, and to Weaver's car, $50.

Has Pilot's License

Baltzley recently was discharged from the Warner hospital after being severely injured when a huge stack of canned fruit fell on him while he was fighting a blaze at the National Fruit Product Plant at Peach Glen.

He holds a private pilot's license and pilots his own Aeronca, two-place monoplane, out of the Gettysburg Airport where he received his instruction. He is now seeking a commercial pilot's license. He has had about 30 hours of instruction and 40 hours of solo flying.

Sunday morning he spent flying, taking his wife on several flights. Sunday afternoon he continued to log more hours of solo flying and had left the airport shortly before the accident.

When he emerged from the crash he said: "Flying seems to be the safest thing after all."

JUNIOR POLICE GET UNIFORMS TUESDAY NIGHT

Uniforms for the new Junior Police club's proposed drill team, will be distributed at a meeting of the organization Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, at the Lincoln school, Borough Police Officer Albert L. Wolford, advisor to the club, announced today. The uniforms were given by the American Legion. They were formerly used by the Junior Legion drum corps.

Officer Wolford said all members of the club are urged to be present at Tuesday evening's meeting, as other matters of importance are to be discussed. Committees in charge of arrangements for the dance to be held the night of August 28, in the Hotel Gettysburg annex, are expected to report.

Plan To Parade

Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster said today that he hopes to have the Junior Police drill team sufficiently trained by August 14 to take part in the V-J Day celebration being planned for that date.

The Junior Police baseball team has scheduled a game with a team from Gettysburg college at 6:30 Tuesday evening, and on Wednesday evening at 6:30 p. m. the team will play the Barlow entry in the South Penn league. Both games are scheduled at Codori field.

The playoffs between Gettysburg, winner of Division 1 of the Fraternal Order of Police Junior league, and the winners of Division 2, will start Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the high school field, Wolford said. Mechanicsburg and McConnellsburg will decide a first place tie Wednesday in Division 2.

The Gettysburg Junior police played 38 games this summer, including league and other contests, and won 33.

Use of Codori field Tuesday and Wednesday evenings was contingent upon finding someone to cut the grass in the outfield, Wolford said.

Kimple had been driving west on the Lincoln highway and turned into the Arendtsville road as Herring was crossing, state police said after their investigation. The right front corner of the truck body struck Mr. Herring. He was taken to the Warner hospital where he remained a patient today.

No charges were filed.

Wife Of Former Grid Coach At College Is Doubling As College Teacher And Mother

Will my marriage be a success? What are the symptoms of love? Do religious differences interfere with marriage? Should "planned parenthood" be taught in schools?

These are the type of questions answered daily by Mrs. Esther Chase Wood, assistant professor of the psychology department at Wagner College, Staten Island, N. Y., according to an article in The Staten Island Advance by Iris Wilson.

Mrs. Wood is the wife of Rev. William W. "Bill" Wood, former head coach of football at Gettysburg college.

Performing the dual task of college professor and mother of six children, Mrs. Wood is well qualified for her job as teacher of a relatively new course to be carried in the Wagner curriculum, Sociology 4, better known as Family and Marriage.

Widely known on Staten Island as a lecturer in child psychology and parent education, Mrs. Wood believes that education in marriage relationships will tend to protect the future of the American home-life, which, as statistics show, is in a precarious position. One out of three American marriages are dissolved in divorce courts, she said.

The average person of marriageable age is immature in his outlook on marriage and family responsibilities, according to the psychologist. Correct education before marriage will provide the individual with a secure background of just what is expected of him in this all-important step.

"A 50-50, give and take marriage will ultimately be the happiest for all concerned, both children and parents," she went on. "Love and affection binds couples together regardless of the economic instabilities that may confront them and the hardships that may arise."

Predictions of the success of marriage may be made on the basis of case study, a study of personalities, of family and religious backgrounds, individual tastes, likes and dislikes, similar interests and standards. Couples with similar backgrounds and interests have the greatest chance of a normal, happy married life, she claims.

Mrs. Wood's class includes field trips to family welfare stations, children's courts, marriage counseling centers and domestic relations courts, where case studies are made.

Many college students have resented that the marriage course be incorporated into the required (Please turn to Page Two)

Promises Probe Of Other Firms; E. Roosevelt Ready

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—A Senate investigation of wartime entertainment spending by "many firms" was promised today by Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) who termed a "glaring example" the spending by Howard Hughes' aircraft company.

Ferguson made the promise to Democratic colleagues as an inter-party squabble broke out over the course of his war investigating subcommittee's inquiry into the Hughes' aircraft contracts.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) had objected that too much time of the hearings, starting on a second week today, had been taken up with a discussion of the free spending of John W. Meyer, Hughes' publicity man, and not enough on the aircraft Hughes contracted to build.

The exchange between the Senators came as the committee recessed its hearings (until 1 p. m. EST) for lunch.

Waiting to testify was Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late president. The committee has received testimony that the Hughes firm spent more than $5,000 on entertainment for young Roosevelt and his friends and got a $22,000,000 contract which Roosevelt recommended although the Army Air Forces earlier had rejected it.

With John Myer, Hughes' publicity man, testifying about parties he gave for young Roosevelt, Ferguson agreed with Senator Brewster (D-Me.) that a "searching examination" by the committee had failed to turn up similar records in the files of other California plane builders.

As Roosevelt waited to testify, Brewster cited a report of C. N. Bailey, general accounting office expert who made the survey of entertainment expenses.

Bailey said that his examination, limited to contracts where the records are open to the government, "disclosed nothing of the scope and lavishness" of the $169,000 entertainment expenses of Meyer over a five-year period ending January 1, 1947.

Colonial Williamsburg Is Screened At Campfire Here

The charm of early Colonial life in Williamsburg, the capital of Virginia in pre-revolutionary times and home of the provincial governor, as well as highlights of several of its trades and its colonial cookery, were vividly portrayed in the color-sound movie, "Colonial Williamsburg," shown on East Cemetery hill Sunday night as the second in the summer series of National Park "campfires."

The film, made recently by the Eastman Kodak company, with the cooperation of Williamsburg Educational association, was devoted principally to the daily life of a Williamsburg cabinet maker and his family. The colonial home, the preparation of breakfast by the family slaves, the morning meal, the work in the cabinet shop where early American furniture was painstakingly made, and other affairs of community life of the 18th century were shown in color and described by the narrator.

While the film lacked the general views of Williamsburg and its many beautiful colonial buildings which have been restored in recent years, it was an interesting portrayal of the customs and life of its early settlers. The governor's coach, the famous Raleigh tavern, and the jail, with its stocks and pillory, were shown. About 200 persons saw the film.

Next Sunday's campfire will feature a series of colored slides of the Statue of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, in the Upper Bay of New York harbor, instead of the Saratoga battlefield, as was announced Sunday night.

Charles S. Marshall, superintendent of the national monument, will narrate the story of the statue and many of his interesting experiences in the ten years he has been located on the island.

The Saratoga slides, with Dr. J. Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg national park as narrator, will be shown at a later date.

UN Stops Indonesian War

Batavia, Java, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Indonesian Republic joined the Dutch tonight in announcing a cease-fire order to troops, stopping hostilities in Indonesia and giving the United Nations its first big victory for peace.

A Republican reply to the U. N. Security Council's demand for a halt to the 15-day war said the Republic was issuing a cease-fire to all troops on the island of Java. The Dutch had announced Sunday a cease-fire effective this midnight. Dutch advances had halted even before the deadline.

Jogjakarta announced plans for a midnight broadcast by President Soekarno in his capacity as commander of troops.

The Republican government asked the Security Council to appoint an impartial committee to supervise enforcement of the cease-fire. It said Dutch military operations had cut communications in numerous places, leading to difficulties in enforcing the order on the Republican side, and asked that the world take this into consideration.

A Dutch spokesman said most Netherlands units were already pulled up, several hours before the midnight deadline. There was almost no activity today at Semarang, which had been the Dutch troops' expected jumping-off place for an attack toward Jogjakarta.

The United Nations Security Council last Friday called upon both sides to cease fighting.

In statements yesterday the Indonesians said they were "willing" to cease hostilities, but that a truce could be carried out effectively only if the Dutch withdrew to demarcation lines established last October. There was no indication of Dutch agreement to this.

The church was decorated with palms, white gladioli and candelabra. The altar vases were filled with white carnations. Greens and white gladioli, woven in a chain effect, served as the decoration for the chancel, while bouquets of gladioli were used on the pews.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Julia Yost, Biglerville, gave a half-hour recital including "Intermezzo," "To a Wild Rose," "Serenade," "Ave Maria" and "Clair de Lune." Prof. Charles L. Yost, Biglerville, accompanied by his daughter, sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Ich Liebe Dich" and "Through the Years." During the ceremony he sang "The Lord's Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used.

School Patrons To Organize Thursday

A number of residents of Cumberland township are planning to establish a permanent Citizens School committee to study the school system in that township, it was learned today.

The group has arranged for a meeting Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Barlow fire hall for the purpose of organizing the committee.

Those promoting the idea claimed today there is a possibility of effecting some saving in the amount spent in the township for education and at the same time improving the educational facilities offered to the youngsters.

They are inviting all residents of the township and school board to attend Thursday's meeting.

GERMANY TWP. SCHOOL CHANGE IS SUGGESTED

A letter sent to the Germany township school board by Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, suggests to the township a plan he says can save about $2,300 a year, or six to seven mills tax a year for the school district by changing its school system in accordance with the provisions of new acts of legislature.

The letter stated that "changes in reimbursement brought about by Act 403 and Act 417 of the legislature will make a conditional difference to the tax payers in your district depending upon the organization which you follow next year."

The Germany township board, the letter point out, is the only school district affected under the new acts which has not so far discussed with the county office the possibility of change to take advantage of the new laws.

The letter states that "if prompt action is taken it is not too late to obtain these benefits for your pupils and your taxpayers."

Pointing out that "You are no longer receiving reimbursement on the basis of pupils enrolled," the letter adds that now "you will be entitled to 4.7 units no matter how many teachers you employ next year. Your state reimbursement for teaching units will be $8,970. If you employ four teachers' their salaries will amount to $7,800, leaving a balance of $1,171 in your treasury. If you employ five teachers their salaries will cost you $9,750. This will be $779 more than you will receive for teaching units. You must recognize that the enrollment of 53 to 55 pupils in Oak Grove school is most undesirable—if not contrary to the health regulations. We now believe there is a suitable alternative to the crowding at Oak Grove school.

"This we believe could be done by closing Slate Ridge school and thereby saving approximately $2,300 for your district.

Gives Plan In Detail

"You could improve the educational opportunities of your pupils by grading the four remaining schools and by furnishing transportation for your high school students. The state pays more than 86 per cent on all transportation leaving your district with a very small sum to pay from your own treasury.

"We recommend that you transport grades 1-4 from Oak Grove to Mt. Vernon and that you take grades 5-8 from Mt. Vernon to Oak Grove by bus. This would give you an enrollment of around 36 pupils in each school with only four classes to be conducted during the school day. Each class will thereby receive a great increase in time for instruction.

"As the bus returns from the Mt. Vernon area it could bring your high school pupils along to Littlestown. The bus could then go to Ash Grove school and pick up grades 5 to 8 and high school pupils and then proceed to Mt. Pleasant school where it could discharge grades 5 to 8. At Mt. Pleasant it could pick up grades 1 to 4 and high school pupils. The high school pupils could be discharged at Littlestown and grades 1 to 4 at Ash Grove.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Hartzell, at home; Mrs. Bernard Redding, Gettysburg R. D. and Mrs. Clarence Deardorff, McKnightstown; six grand-children; nine great-grand-children, and one brother, John C. Bushey, Washington, D. C.

GETTYSBURG IS NOT ON MASTER HIGHWAY PLAN

The state highway department today told The Gettysburg Times that the proposed Interstate Roadways Master Plan which provides for 1,322 miles in Pennsylvania does not include Gettysburg on the schedule.

The route from Baltimore to Harrisburg goes through York, according to present plans.

However, it was explained that the federal appropriation can be used on other roads in the state and that some of the money is now being used on the Lincoln Highway and on secondary routes in Pennsylvania.

It was also explained that it is not proposed to build new highways now, but that when and if construction starts on any of the master plan roads the highways will all be of standard construction throughout the country.

State Routes

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—An Interstate roadways master plan, including 1,322 miles in Pennsylvania, has been agreed upon in general terms by federal, state and municipal governments.

Pennsylvania cities that will be affected are Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Erie, Scranton, Reading, Harrisburg, Chester, Allentown, Bethlehem, McKeesport, Upper Darby township, Wilkes-Barre, York and Easton.

Not included in the interstate system because of their geographic location are Altoona, Johnstown and Lancaster.

FOUR COUNTAINS HURT IN CRASH

Four McSherrystown persons narrowly escaped serious injury late Sunday when their car left the highway, struck a fence and turned over on the York-Spring Grove road, near Spring Grove.

All four were injured slightly and treated at Hagerstown hospital.

State Policeman Alfred J. Corkran said the four and their injuries were as follows:

Burnell R. Small, 21, of Third street, the driver, face lacerations; Roth E. Small, 26, of 509 Main street, head and face lacerations; John Spangler, 16, of Third street, face and leg lacerations and chest bruises; and Harold Smith, 19, of South street, face lacerations and body bruises.

The four escaped from the overturned car through its fabric roof, Corkran said. He quoted witnesses as saying they heard a noise that sounded like a tire blowout, but Corkran said the tires were intact. He surmised that mechanical defect had caused the crash.

The group was proceeding toward Spring Grove when the car swerved off the road to the left and struck a fence on the property of Philip Eyster, Hanover, R. 3, Corkran said. The car was demolished.

curriculum of the college, but compelling a student to enroll in a course of this kind might cause resentment on the part of the student or the parents, Mrs. Wood believes. Immature students would also defeat the motive of a course of this kind, since it is one which must be entered with an objective mind.

A small woman, with a coronet of chestnut colored hair tinged with a little gray encircling her head, Mrs. Wood is the wife of the chaplain of Sailors Snug Harbor, New Brighton, the Rev. William Wallace Wood, Sr. Five of their children are college graduates. The sixth, Julia, is now a sophomore at Wagner.

Her eldest son, William Wallace Jr., a graduate of the 1940 class at Columbia University, is employed as chief assistant engineer by Link Aviation Device Company, Binghamton, N. Y.

Is Lecturer

Walter Scott Wood, who was graduated from Columbia this spring, is now lecturing in sociology at Wagner. He is a veteran of three years service in the Pacific with the Army Air Corps. In the fall he plans to enter the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia Medical Center.

John, a graduate of Yale University, is in his second year at the College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Mrs. Wilson Dizard, of New Brighton, Mrs. Wood's eldest daughter, was graduated from Mount Holyoke College magna cum laude. She is employed as a confidential secretary to Andrew G. Clauson, president of the Board of Education.

Mrs. Wood's other married daughter is Mrs. Livingston Rice, of Ridgefield, Conn., a graduate of Barnard College.

Has Six Children

Having been graduated from Pennsylvania State College, after the six children were born, Mrs. Wood completed her graduate study at Columbia in child psychology and parent education. She formerly held the position of director of religious education at Riverside Presbyterian church, Manhattan. She has lectured extensively throughout Manhattan on the subject of parent education in connection with the Greater New York Federation of Churches.

The psychologist was formerly a lecturer in the extension division of Columbia University, where she spoke to adult groups on leadership training and parent education in family and marriages.

An active Island clubwoman, she is connected with the Protestant Council, serving on the Christian Education and Family and Marriage Committees. She is also affiliated with the Staten Island Council of Social Agencies and the Stapleton-St. George Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Recently she was appointed a trustee of the Mariners' Family Asylum.

She has completed her activities of the Wagner College Summer School until September. When asked where she plans to spend her vacation, her eyes sparkled and she said, "On the farm—in Pennsylvania."

STATE PROBES SPOILED ARMY SURPLUS SALES

Harrisburg, Aug. 4 (AP)—Governor James H. Duff had a report before him today from the State Department of Agriculture that surplus army and navy foods, unfit for human consumption, were being offered for sale in Pennsylvania.

Miles Horst, secretary of agriculture, in submitting the report said "there is evidence that some unscrupulous dealers and retail outlets may be deliberately evading the state food laws."

"The Commonwealth will prosecute such offenders," added Horst.

Horst said the investigation into sale of spoiled food started last May after discovery by state food agents of ships' stores worth $3,000 in a Pittston garage. Much of the food had to be destroyed.

"These buyers of ships' stores, army, and government food, for the most part, are innocent victims of a deplorable practice," said Horst.

Other Cases Found

He told Duff that "government agencies apparently are doing their best to help us clean up the situation, but it still persists."

Since the spoiled food was discovered in Pittston, Horst said the following new cases of food law violation, but it still persists.

Purchase by two Williamsport ex-servicemen of 4,200 cases of spoiled apple butter for which they paid $2,625 only to have the entire lot condemned.

A Scranton retailer bought 1,200 cans of surplus life ration, and eighty per cent turned out to be drinking water.

Spices which were condemned at a Philadelphia warehouse as "old and practically flavorless" included 120 pounds of nutmeg, and 504 pounds of red pepper.

Card Game Ends In Player's Death

Erie, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP)—Delmar Ramey, 39, is being held in connection with the death of a 66-year-old companion who died after he was struck on the chin during an argument, District Attorney Damian J. McLaughlin reported.

McLaughlin said the victim, Harry McMillan, about 66, had been playing cards Saturday and that when he was hit his head struck a stove. He was dead when police arrived a few hours later.

No charges have been filed against Ramey, pending the outcome of a post-mortem examination to determine the cause of McMillan's death, McLaughlin said.

RFC-B & O Loan Controversy Flares

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—The weeks-long controversy earlier this year over an $80,000,000 RFC-B & O loan arrangement flared anew today with a call from Senator Tobey (R-N. H.) for publication of a "suppressed" Congressional committee report.

Tobey, chairman of a Senate Banking subcommittee which conducted hearings into the railroad's financing last spring, contended that "unusual" and "unethical" efforts by B. & O. and RFC officials helped keep the document secret.

RFC Chairman John D. Goodloe replied that he had asked members not to sign the report until they had studied it carefully because it covered ground already passed on by a Federal court.

The hearings by Tobey's group revolved around an agreement by the RFC to extend its B. & O. loan from 1944 to 1965. Testimony brought charges and denials that the RFC engineered a "fraudulent bankruptcy" of the B. & O.

TRY OPERATION
SO HE CAN EAT

Pittsburgh, Aug. 4 (AP)—Mickey Schuster, a strapping six-foot-two-inch Youngstown (Ohio) furniture worker plans to celebrate his 29th birthday Aug. 25 by undergoing a rare operation here in the hope he may eat normally for the first time since he was a child.

In 1921 Mickey swallowed some lye which seared the lining of his esophagus, closing it completely with scar tissue. He spent nine years in a hospital and still feels himself regularly through a tube in his stomach.

A surgeon told him recently there's a chance that the structure may be opened. And Mickey promptly picked his birthday for the operation at Allegheny General hospital.

He claims that not even his best friend or his fellow workers knew of his affliction until recently although he added that his companions thought it peculiar that he didn't carry his lunch.

"I just told them I had ulcers," Mickey laughed, "then I'd go home after eight hours of work and have a 'hearty meal' of soft food through a tube."

Make a late season's planting of beets, turnips and lettuce at this time. Of the beets the variety Detroit Red is considered one of the best for winter storage. Golden Ball is considered one of the best varieties of turnip. Oak leaf lettuce has been found successful for late planting. Sow seeds of the above before August 10.

SAYS STEELERS TO BE BETTER THAN YEAR AGO

Cambridge Springs, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP)—Dr. J. B. (Jock) Sutherland, football's tactician, abandoned his usual reticence long enough today to express belief that his 1947 Pittsburgh Steelers would be "a little better" than the lean and hungry eleven which proved a national league surprise in 1946.

Sutherland expressed this cautious optimism as he gathered 57 pig-skin huskies at Alliance college here to begin a seven-week training grind.

His squad includes 40 newcomers and 17 seasoned hands from last season's club which won five, lost five and tied one. That record was a surprise because Sutherland, guiding the Steelers for the first time in their 15-year national league career, had only cast off and unused players with one exception.

Will Miss Dudley

That exception was Bullet Bill Dudley, former University of Virginia halfback who proved to be the sparkplug of the Steelers and led the league in ground gaining.

Durley, recently married, has announced he will forego pro ball this year to be an assistant coach at his alma mater which leaves a gaping hole for Sutherland to fill.

"We'll miss Dudley," Jock said candidly, "you can't dismiss that boy's football ability. But despite that loss I think we'll have a better squad. At least we'll be heavier."

Last year the Steelers were so small as pro teams go that fans in some cities wanted to know when the first team was due to arrive when they saw the lads lolling around a hotel lobby before a game.

Some Good News Ones

Despite this watch arm motif the Steelers played on even terms with every club, using speed and condition to overcome weight deficiencies.

Frank Wydo, 215-pound former Cornell tackle, Johnny Mantrangelo talker Notre Dame Alumnus, and Bronko Kananovich, former Penn State, are newcomers expected to add weight to the forward wall.

Johnny Clement, Dudley's understudy last year is to be groomed to take over the bullet's offensive assignments. A highly touted newcomer is Larry Brun, 210-pounder who starred at Geneva college.

CANCER STUDY AIDED BY ATOM

Oak Ridge, Tenn., Aug. 4 (AP)—New aids for the attack on cancer have been developed with tools born of American research to produce the atom bomb.

Commenting on the atomic energy commission's first detailed summary of peacetime applications of atomic energy program, a commission scientist said "great achievements" already have been made in medicine, biology and industry.

But, he added, these are only "infant steps" towards future developments in those fields and in agriculture.

The week-end report was issued on the first anniversary of the release of "radioisotopes" for private research work. These materials—produced here at Oak Ridge in the same type of uranium chain-reacting oven used in the A-bomb development—are radioactive, or ray-emitting forms of common and rare elements.

They can be used as "atomic spies" to help study the action of their stable counterparts in various processes important to man; and a few can be used as "atomic artillery," supplying direct radiation for the treatment of certain diseases.

The cancer work described in the report illustrates both those functions.

Researchers at St. Louis' Barnes Free Skin and Cancer hospital—one of 170 institutions which have received shipments of isotopes during the past year—have succeeded in "tagging" an artificial cancer-producing agent with one of the radioisotopes.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

Trespassers Beware: As the subscribers having been much annoyed by persons hunting and fishing upon their grounds and also passing and re-passing for those and other purposes, and by which frequent injury has been done to their timber, fences, etc., they hereby give notice that they are determined to protect themselves in the enjoyment of their property and that they will put the law in force against all trespassers without respect to persons.

Jacob Lady, Abraham Spangler, Jacob Benner, Michael Bushman, George Spangler, Philip Snyder, Joseph Sherfy, Abraham Trostle, John Keefeaver.

Married: On the 3d inst., by the Rev. Edwin A. Atlee, Mr. George R. Gilbert, (formerly of this place), to Miss Sarah Jane Jones—both of Monroe county, Tennessee.

The War: It is now a fact generally conceded, that the people of this country are opposed to the War. The intelligent and thinking portion never did approve of the policy that involved us in the War, and the other half who were carried away by "the pomp and pride, and circumstance" have seen their folly; the glare of victory that dazzled awhile, has now grown dim, and all have now come to the sage conclusion that it is time for peace. . . . Tell your member of congress that he must not leave Washington next spring unless he can bring with him a record of his vote against that nation-polluting sin—War. Let every voter do this, and Peace is as certain in six months, as it is doubtful now. But, most of all—Petition—Petition. Let a petition for Peace lie on every merchant's counter and Lawyer's desk, and every place of public resort. . . .

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Married: Harman-Bercaw: On the 28th ult., in this place, by Rev. W. R. H. Dearick, Mr. Jeremiah W. Harman, of Straban township, to Miss Annie P. Bercaw, of Butler township, this county.

Smith-Kuhn: On the 30th ult., by Rev. J. A. Boll, J. E. Smith, Esq., of Mountpleasant township, to Miss Mary J. Kuhn, of this place.

Williamsport, Pa., has resumed its accustomed tranquility; the strike is ended, the distributors of the peace released on bail, and the troops ordered home.

Today's Talk

WITHOUT OPPOSITION

I wonder if anyone has ever accomplished anything worth while without opposition? We have within us at least two natures that are forever struggling with each other. The one that is most triumphant is the nature that we are—that people know us to be. No one, outside our own selves, however, knows about the fight and struggle that keeps going on inside.

It used to be said of President Grover Cleveland that people loved him because of the enemies that he made. But that wasn't it. It was because of the rugged and dogged courage and independence of the man. He it was who once said that a public office was a public trust. Opposition only made Grover Cleveland more determined to assert what he believed to be right.

People go to baseball games, to football contests, to horse races, and other sporting events, to view the sportsmanship that results—contests in which opposition brings out the best—and the winner!

The explorer meets daily opposition, so does the inventor, so does the business man, and so does the statesman. Without opposition humanity would travel backwards. We all meet opposition and none of us would reserve anything that we gain if we didn't have it. Almost all beauty is the result of opposition. All great art is, no matter how acquired.

It's opposition that stirs the fight within us, that gives us determination, and which brings out the best that we have and are. People listen to the man who says that he welcomes opposition. They know that he is one who is not afraid to talk the truth, or to assert his convictions. It's the opposition that is responsible for every great advance in the rule of the people, and in the establishment of freedom and justice.

Without opposition we would become complainers and weaklings. We would have no lessons to go by. A failure would be a failure, without any incentive to turn it rapidly into a winning event. The late Wendell Wilkie introduced a phrase into national politics when he spoke of his party as "the loyal opposition." If all opposition were loyal there would be a different story told each day in our newspapers and over our radios!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Ploughs."

Just Folks

The Poet of the People

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE CHANGING CARES

Away from the noise of the highway,
And back to the caving of crows;
From the clamoring: "Get out of my way!"

To screen doors that never will close.

Away from the telephone ringing
And the fear not to answer each call.

To mosquitoes, incessantly stinging,
And curious creatures that crawl.

Away from the paper each morning,
To one that's a day or two late;

From motor horns sounding a warning,
To the clang of an incoming freight.

Away from the neighbor who rises
At daybreak to mow down his lawn.

To the racket that nature devises—
The crowing of roosters at dawn.

Perfection is something that never
On earth may the living achieve.

Drop one form of fretful endeavor,
Another we're bound to receive.

Life seldom on mortals takes pity;
It will try them wherever they go.

Who flees from the woes of the city
The cares of the country will know.

Toll Bridge Snarl Remains Unbroken

Harrisburg, Aug. 4 (AP)—Pennsylvania's 20-year long fight to free its last 10 privately owned toll bridges apparently has hit a snag which may require new legislation to untangle.

Subject of political campaign speeches and legislative debates since the 1920's, the movement to free the bridges operated by private companies on the Keystone state's highways reached its present dead end after:

1. The State Supreme court last January ruled a 1945 constitutional amendment limiting use of motor fund moneys cancelled a $7,000,000 appropriation to the Highways department to buy and free the toll spans.

2. A proposal to revise the 1945 constitutional amendment on the motor fund—it prohibits use of the money for any purpose other than construction, maintenance and operation of highways and bridges, air navigation facilities and safety—to include purchase of bridges died in a House committee.

FERNS THRIVE IN COOL AND SHADY GARDENS

In almost every garden there is some spot where a grouping of hardy ferns will thrive, writes Gisela Grimm in the New York Herald Tribune. Most of them require only a partly shaded spot with a porous and moist yet well drained soil, and protection from strong winds she says.

If such a place exists, along the north side of a house or a walk, or under an arbor, or in any other much frequented place, ferns will add greatly to the enjoyment of the summer garden. The fresh green fronds have a grace and beauty that never fade to please, and one's appreciation of them increases with leisurely observation.

Unfortunately, most locations close to the house, although of suitable exposure, are unsuited in other ways. The soil is frequently poor and hard and will need to be removed to a depth of at least a foot and replaced with a suitable soil mixture. A soil mixture composed of half leafmold, a quarter sand, and a quarter garden soil is a good basis, although additional leafmold or peatmoss may be required for some ferns.

Eaves a Problem

As moisture is important, overhanging eaves present a problem, as well as maples and other surface rooting trees and shrubs. Rocks and old logs embedded in the soil of the fern bed will give a natural effect and hold moisture. Some find it helpful to sink cans with holes punched in the bottom in the fern bed and occasionally fill them with water.

Ferns like frequent syringing with water from the hose, and a freshly syringed bed on a summer evening presents a cool and restful appearance unequaled by any colorful bed of flowers.

It is sometimes difficult to choose from the many hardy ferns those most suitable. If the fern bed is against a wall or other background, tall, sturdy ferns should be chosen for the back of the bed and faced down with others of more moderate growth.

One of the finest of these tall ferns is the ostrich fern. In moist shady places it grows with tropical luxuriance and may reach four feet. The name is suggested by the great fronds with softly drooping tips and edges, resembling ostrich plumes. This fern likes deep, moist soil of rather acid reaction and will not thrive in shallow soil over rocks or heavy subsoil.

Royal Fern Handsome

Another very tall, handsome fern is the royal fern (Osmunda regalis). In spring the uncurling fronds are a delicate buff-pink and yellow, opening to feathery fronds of pale sea green. This fern likes the same conditions of soil and exposure as the ostrich fern.

Although preferring a moist, cool soil, but somewhat more tolerant of dry conditions, are the cinnamon fern (Osmunda cinnamomea) and the interrupted fern (Osmunda claytoniana).

The cinnamon fern is so-called for the cinnamon brown color of the fertile fronds, which are circled by the sterile fronds growing in a tall, graceful crown.

The interrupted fern is so called because some of the fern fronds are interrupted or broken in the middle with dwarfed, dark brown, fertile sections. In the fall this fern turns a glorious bright yellow.

If space permits, ferns of more moderate growth may be used to edge the fern bed, but watch must be kept lest some of the stronger growing ferns choke them out. The Christmas fern (Polystichum acrostichoides), with evergreen fronds a foot long, is one of the best.

If rocks are used to edge the bed some of the even smaller evergreen ferns may be used between them, as the common polypody (Polypodium vulgare). If the rocks are limestone, the dainty ebony spleenwort (Asplenium platyneuron) and the maidenhair spleenwort (Asplenium trichomanes) will thrive particularly well.

DAYLILY PLANT DEVELOPED BY BREEDING CARE

Hemerocallis or Daylily has become an important garden plant. It always has been popular in a limited way in bygone generations, but there were too few species and varieties then to give it more than passing attention.

The last decade has witnessed a surge of popularity few other plants have enjoyed. It was not just a case of gardeners becoming conscious of its merits, but the result of the vision of a handful of plant breeders who were convinced that careful breeding was certain to result in worth-while improvements.

The dozen or so kinds grown a generation ago now join company with more than 100 named hybrids of acknowledged merit. These newcomers have expanded the blooming season from late May until frost, with the majority of them blooming during the hot summer weather when good perennial plants are rather scarce. The color range also has been increased with tones of yellow and orange still very much predominating, but with varieties with a distinct approach toward pink, red and even purple. Many sorts have contrasting large spots of mahogany-red on the inner side of the petals which create a sharp contrast to the yellow or orange petal tips.

Cover Entire Season

To realize fully the progress made, the gardener should give a little time and study to what is available. This will be a great help in selecting varieties which cover the complete blooming season. Those who have access to a display planting will have to visit it at least every fortnight to appreciate the succession that takes place.

There are few perennials which will thrive under as varied conditions as hemerocallis. They like sun for most of the day. In the shade they fail to flower satisfactorily. Sandy or heavy soil makes little difference to them. They can stand more heat and drought than almost any other herbaceous plant. To get the most out of them they should, however, be planted in fertile soil and be helped along with a thorough soaking during dry, hot summer spells.

Sulphur Utilized To Prevent Mildew

Dew-laden nights followed by hot days encourage development of mildew, plant disease which can do much harm to lilacs, phlox, chrysanthemum and many other plants. Its name is descriptive of its appearance, and the white or light-gray deposit is easily wiped off. This, however, has no effect on controlling it, because by the time it is observed the leaf tissue is bound to have been penetrated by masses of thin white threads called mycelium, and it is these which do the real harm.

To prevent serious attacks, control measures must be taken as soon as the first signs of the blight appear. In the case of extra-choice plants, the gardener should be a step ahead by starting the treatment beforehand. Dusting sulphur is the best known preventative, and the plants must be thoroughly covered with a fine, even deposit of it. Because the spores of the disease can germinate only while the foliage is moist or wet, it is important to dust before rather than after a rain.

A heavy crown, preferably should be planted late in the fall after growth ceases. The crowns should only be partly covered when planting. The creeping stems of other ferns should be covered with soil. A mulch of leaves added to the fern bed each fall is Nature's method of fertilizing.

Wet Weather Damages Root Crops

Home gardeners as well as commercial growers are meeting numerous problems from unseasonably wet weather when such root crops as onions and potatoes near maturity. One reader writes that his mid-season potatoes are rotting in the ground while they are still too immature to dig and store. With the need for saving a maximum of our food crop this year, all growers should strive to keep such losses at a minimum. Here are a few suggestions:

In some cases surface drainage can be improved by better opening of ditches around potato and onion plantings. Reduction of standing water after heavy rains is an important factor in helping the crops to mature normally.

Of course, weeds greatly hinder maturity of all root crops as they near harvest. This is particularly true of onions. Weeds shade the ground surface excessively and thereby retain moisture in the surface soil. Onions growing in this environment cannot fully mature, especially in their necks. And long experience has proved to commercial onion growers that an onion with a "soft" neck is unfit to store, for it usually is the first bulb to start decay in the crate or bin.

During the next few weeks before onions are harvested all weeds and grass should be kept removed. Cultivation is not necessary to attain this goal; hand-pulling remains the most effective and least expensive method of eradication. Only when sunshine and free circulation of air promote normal drying of onion tops can the bulbs mature sound and hard for safe storage. This is true in ordinary dry August weather; and it is more than doubly true in wet seasons.

It is likewise true that weeds hinder potato maturity by increasing excess moisture on the ground surface and keeping the tops from drying. Clean tillage is wise in all kinds of weather for potatoes and it pays higher dividends than usual when rainfall is heavy during the last few weeks of the ripening period. Again, removal by hand is the best method.

As soon as potato tops are dead they should be cut off and removed to permit sunshine and wind to evaporate faster all surface soil moisture. Of course, as long as potato leaves are green the tubers are storing nutrients manufactured in the leaves. But as soon as most of the leaves die the tops are no longer of use to maturing tubers, and can be taken away safely. This practice is suggested even before the leaves are dead in cases where mid-season potatoes are rotting from too much soil moisture.

Newly harvested potatoes and onions should be placed in open slat crates and stored in a room where the temperature is fairly high and air circulation is free. Storage in large heaps and particularly in compact bins is dangerous.

Carrots, parsnips, turnips, rutabagas and other so-called root crops rarely suffer from too much soil moisture as they near maturity. However, gardeners who do not have sufficient cellar space for storing these should not make the mistake of burying them before cool weather arrives.

In these and other crop storage problems, readers are urged to write the editor about their individual difficulties.

Philadelphia, Aug. 4 (AP)—Police sought today to identify a 60-year-old man with a deep scalp wound who was found floating in the Delaware river yesterday. The man carried a social security card with the name of John J. Kummel and a Salvation army home address. But church officials said no one by that name was registered with them.

OHIO CAPTURES SWIMMING MEET

Tyler, Tex., Aug. 4 (AP)—America's swimming and diving team in next year's Olympic games will be the best this nation ever has boasted. Members of the National Swimming committee and coaches of teams in the National AAU championships here agreed today.

The meet closed last night with Ohio State taking the team championship, young Jimmy McLane of the New Haven, Conn., swim club splashing to a triple win to capture high point honors and three national and two American records being smashed.

Joe Verdeur of Brighton Drake Swim club of Atlantic City and Bruce Harlan of Ohio State were doublewinners in the meet with the former setting the only individual records. He smashed both the national and American records in the 200-meter breaststroke with a time of 2:38.4.

This was 4.9 seconds under the national mark, three seconds better than the American standard and within 1.2 seconds of the world record. Verdeur also won the 300-meter individual medley. Harlan captured both of the diving events—the three-meter and the 10-meter platform dives.

But the outstanding star of the meet was 16-year-old McLane who won all the distance events—the 800-meter, 400-meter and 1500-meter free styles. McLane, however broke no records.

Neale Says Eagles Best He Has Coached

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Aug. 4 (AP)—Coach Earle A. (Greasy) Neale got out on the limb today—even before his team started drills—with the assertion that his 1947 Philadelphia "Is the finest since I've been coaching the Eagles."

"Barring injuries," he said, "we should have a terrific season. We've got weight in the line and speed in the backfield for the first time. What's more important, all the boys arrived here in great shape and anxious to start tearing each other apart."

Neale has a squad of 54, the 34 linemen averaging 218 pounds and the backs 190.

Lebanon, Pa., Aug. 4 (AP)—Leo Heller of Tully-Seane, and Dick Rowbotham of Llanerch, are the new best ball champions of the Central Pennsylvania Golf association. They won their title in the finals of the group's second annual tournament here on Saturday.

Heller and Rowbotham defeated Billy Haverstick, and Jimmy Mahl, both of Lancaster, in the final round, 3 up and 2 to play.

(By The Associated Press)
Allentown and Trenton, in the number one and two spots in the Inter-State league, took both games of their double headers yesterday. Allentown winning over third place Wilmington 7 to 2 and 11 to 8, and Trenton plowing under the Lancaster Red Roses 10 to 6 and 10 to 4.

Wilmington Manager Jack Saltzgraver played the second game under protest after he had been ejected by Umpire Severa in the fifth inning for objecting to a called ball on Allentown's Jim Hecklinger. Saltzgraver claimed Hecklinger had attempted to bunt and missed while Severa called the pitch a ball. The Hagerstown Owls took the first game of their double bill with Harrisburg, 6 to 2, and dropped the nightcap 5 to 0. Sunbury took two games from the York Roses, winning the first contest 8 to 3 and the finale 11 to 4. Today's games: Wilmington at Allentown (only game scheduled).

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—As if Bobby Locke hadn't caused enough trouble for American golfers, there's a new South African threat due here in September to have a shot at the women's championship. She's Mrs. Betty Peltz, who comes from Locke's home town, Johannesburg, and who is rated as a scratch golfer.

The first reaction is that she's Peltz but Babe Zaharias still belts. . . . The first entry received for the women's championship, incidentally, came from six-times champion Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare. . . . For the men's amateur championships, to be played earlier in September, some 200 entries already have hit the U.S.G.A. office. . . . Among them are defending champion Ted Bishop, Bud Ward, Harrison R. Johnston, who is making a "sentimental journey" back to Pebble Beach, where he won the title in 1929. Chick Evans and former British Champion Bob Sweeney.

OH, BROTHER

The Lock Haven, Pa., "Juniors" baseball team, a first-rank amateur club, includes two sets of twins and five of the nine regulars are brothers. . . . Catcher-Manager Harvey Walker, who plays a pretty good game despite the handicap of a crippled foot, is a twin of Third Baseman Harry Walker. Bruce Walker, left fielder and cleanup hitter, is a twin of Right Fielder Calvin (Dixie) Walker. . . . The ace pitcher is Dick Walker, brother but not a twin of the others. . . . The team also includes second baseman Walter Carter and Shortstop Charles Carter, also brothers. . . . By next year another pair of Walker twins, 15-year-old Ralph and Robert, probably will move into the lineup. The juniors, it seems, want twin.

Fields Ball Taken From His Pocket

Omaha, Aug. 4 (AP)—Perhaps Joe King wasn't joking, but the Denver outfielder unsuccessfully tried to hoodwink the populace at last night's Denver - Omaha Western league game.

Ed Lewinski of Omaha maced one benceward. King raced back to the wall, pulled a ball from his pocket, tossed it against the screen and fielded it.

But—fans noticed the duplicity, and the umpires gave Lewinski

DODGERS WORRY FANS BY LOSING THREE IN ROW

BY JOE REICHLER

Will history repeat itself? Are the Brooklyn Dodgers going to duplicate their famous floppiness of 1942 and 1946?

These questions are on the tip of many baseball fans' tongues today following yesterday's 6-0 defeat, the third successive setback handed to the Brooks by the once-tame Chicago Cubs.

The Dodgers still own a seven-game bulge over the stubborn St. Louis Cardinals but last year the Brooks blew a seven and a half game mid-season lead and lost the pennant to the Cards.

And if 1946 was a heartbreaker, consider the '42 season. On Aug. 4 of that year, five years ago to the day, the Dodgers had a 10-game lead. The Cardinals staged one of their whirlwind September finishes to nip the Dodgers by two games.

In 1945, the Brooks led by three and a half games on July 4. But they collapsed from there on, and by Aug. 4, were in third place.

It was only four days ago that the air was buzzing with talk of a sub-way world series between the Dodgers and New York Yankees, who are making a shambles of the American league flag race.

Cards Make Comeback

The Cards' far from through after absorbing three setbacks from the Dodgers, bounced back with three wins over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cards outslugged the Phillies 10-8 at St. Louis Sunday. A wild throw by Walker in the last half of the eighth enabled the Cards to score two unearned runs and win the game.

The home run hitting New York Giants remained a half game back of the Cards by defeating the Pirates 11-8 and then battling to a 6-6 tie in the called second game of a double-header at Pittsburgh.

The Yankees went 13 1/2 games ahead of the field, their widest margin yet, in defeating the Cleveland Indians 5-4 while the second place Boston Red Sox were absorbing a 10-3 drubbing from the Detroit Tigers.

Larry (Yogi) Berra drove in the winning run for the Yanks in the last half of the ninth with a long fly which scored Bobby Brown from third.

Tigers Whip Red Sox

The Tigers hammered five Red Sox pitchers for 16 hits including a two-run homer by Hoot Evers while Hank Newhouse scattered 10 blows in recording his 11th win of the season. The win moved the third place Bengals to within a half game of the Sox.

Lanky Ewell Blackwell's string of consecutive complete games was snapped at 13 as the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Braves split a double-header, the Braves whipping the Reds and Blackwell 4-2 in the opener, and the Reds winning the second 6-1. Charlie Barrett won the opener and Ken Raffensberger the nightcap.

Phil Marchildon gained his 13th victory of the season as the Athletics divided a twin bill with the St. Louis Browns in Philadelphia. The Canadian righthander spaced eight hits to register a 2-0 shutout win against Ellis Kinder in the opener. The Browns overcame a 3-0 Athletic lead to win the nightcap 4-3.

Frank Pappish, Chicago left-hander, pitched the White Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Senators in Washington. The win was the White Sox' 13th in 18 starts over the Nats. Luke Appling scored the winning run in the seventh on Cass Michaels' double.

FIGHT TO SHOW WHO IS CHAMP, BOBCAT OR IKE

Philadelphia, Aug. 4 (AP)—Bob Montgomery and Ike Williams collide in Municipal stadium tonight to make a single-seater out of the lightweight championship, which has been a bicycle-built-for-two these past five years.

Each is putting up his half of the title—Williams the National Boxing association slice and Bob the New York-Pennsylvania piece—on a winner take 'em both basis. And from all the talk you hear around and about—including the pre-battle tunes the two thumpers are playing on their concertinas—it almost has to wind up in a knockout when they're turned loose at 10 p. m. (EDT).

The promise of this large explosion, plus the arguments going on here—about over who's going to wind up as head man—you can find a fight in any soda shoppe with no trouble at all, no matter which you like—has Gus Fan all set to make this the biggest local beak-busting since Tunney and Dempsey went romping in the rain in this same ballyard just 21 years ago.

At the moment, Promoter Herman Taylor, who is putting on the taffy-pull with the Philadelphia Inquirer charities, says it looks like a crowd of 40,000 and a $200,000 tune on the cash registers—and it may be even better than that if the weather man puts on his Sunday bib and tucker.

Old man weather, as a matter of fact, couldn't quite make up his mind. The best forecast was that

New Oxford took over undisputed possession of first place in the Adams County Baseball league by defeating Arendtsville 6-2 in a game played Saturday afternoon at New Oxford. "Code" Bevenour was the winning hurler while Junie Walters suffered the loss.

The outstanding performance on Saturday was given by Clark Rebert, star Ortanna hurler, who blanked Fairfield on the latter's field 5-0, allowing but one hit. Rebert had a no-hit no-run game until two men were out in the ninth and then Sease spoiled his bid for a perfect game by blasting out a single. The next batter fanned to end the game.

Three Reach Base

Only three batters reached base for Fairfield, Benner gaining first base twice on a base on balls and an error. Rebert whiffed nine batters. Ortanna broke a scoreless tie with two runs in the eighth on an error, a triplet by K. Singley and a sacrifice. Another error, hits by D. Rebert and C. Rebert, coupled with a fielder's choice and sacrifice produced three more tallies in the ninth.

In one of the fastest games of the season, one hour and 27 minutes, the Gettysburg nine turned back McSherrystown 2-1 in a well-played game here.

Manager "Bud" Knox scattered eight hits and was given excellent support, which included two double plays, to win the decision. Knox fanned seven batters, his strikeouts coming in threatening situations.

Stonesifer Triples

A single by Abe Hankey, sacrifice by Rohrbaugh and a single by Bobby Ray Knox produced a Gettysburg run in the first inning. In the fourth frame the winning run came on a walk by Ulrich and Stonesifer's triple to deep left-center. McSherrystown scored in the seventh on a single by Wierman and an error.

Hanover took a free-hitting and loosely-played contest from Bendersville. Moul, Wolf and Jack Kane hurried for Hanover while Lawver, Koontz and Ogden worked for Bendersville.

Littlestown laced Emmitsburg 12-8 in another slugfest at Emmitsburg.
